

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To provide an optical waveguide in which the mounting position, form, and size are favorably controlled, and a method of manufacturing the same an optical waveguide includes discharging a liquid material onto a substrate to form an optical waveguide precursor and hardening the optical waveguide precursor to form an optical waveguide.